If I have a Campsite Agreement, can my friends and family use it when I am not using it?

The Campsite Agreement is not transferable. Only the one camping unit will be registered to the site. Any changes (bought a new camper) to this camping unit will need to be cleared with park supervisors. Family and friends may use your camper or if there is room for family and friends to park another camper or tent on this site, they are more than welcome too. They would be responsible to pay regular overnight camping fees. Max occupancy per site is 2 family units with 8 people total.

Do I have to park my camping unit on the site at time of registration?

If you are staying for daily or weekend use, yes, your camping unit must be on the site.

Monthly permit holders will also be required to be on site upon original registration.

For seasonal permit holders, you will not have to park your camper on the site for the entirety of the permit nor will you have to have it with you when you arrive.

Seasonal and Monthly permit holders can come and go as they please with their campers.

No other campers may use these sites. As per our seasonal and monthly agreements.
